Dear Kinesiologist,

I am a student in the Master of Clinical Research at the University of Melbourne undertaking a research project this year. My aim is to explore the effects and impact of Kinesiology and the outcomes that are important in peoples' lives. I will be running 2 focus groups in July/August 2019. I hope to learn from a wide variety of clients who have had regular kinesiology sessions over the last 12 months.

Please can you

1. Give the recruitment document and plain language statement (attached/link) to your clients who might be interested.
2. Email this request to your kinesiology colleagues who may also have clients who might be interested.

Please be advised that you are under no obligation to share this information and whether you do or do not share this information will not affect your relationship with the researcher or any affiliated associations.

Thank you for your time and consideration
